

TEAMSTERS

TAKE ACTION

Paul:

In the last election we asked every candidate, regardless of their party affiliation, if they would work to secure our pensions. Then we got to work to elect those who made that promise.

Democrats in the House and Senate wasted no time fulfilling that promise. The pension plans for millions of Teamsters were already vulnerable and the impact of COVID-19 only worsened the situation, so lawmakers included a solution in the American Relief Plan. And now President Biden just signed it into law — delivering on that promise and securing more than 1.4 million pensions for years to come!

The American Rescue Plan includes much needed COVID relief for American families, including the Butch Lewis Emergency Pension Plan Relief Act. This provision ensures the long term stability of our pensions. After years of calling for a solution to the multiemployer pensions crisis, America's strongest union delivered this win for workers.

Teamsters General President Jim Hoffa has been unflinching in his charge to win a pension solution. For two decades, he has rallied Teamsters and other union members to make sure elected officials heard our voices and knew our demands. Thanks to his leadership, your dedication and the hard work of our allies in Washington, 1.4 million workers and their families can be sure that the retirement they were promised will be there for them.
